

MELISANDE "DOMINA" HARTWELL; REVENANT

You were a successful dominatrix in the Boston area before you came under the influence of a man named "Lord Byron". For five years he forced you to be his Thrall, doing whatever he wished and helping him carry out his depraved plans to make himself a power within the Revenant community of Arkham. That all ended in 2006, that was when in a drug hazed fit of madness, Lord Byron drained the life from you and dumped your lifeless corpse in the sewers beneath Arkham. Needless to say when you awoke the next evening as a Revenant in the stinking sewers of Arkham, you were pissed. Since those dark days back in 2006, you have made it your life's goal to make Lord Byron miserable for eternity. You have for the most part been able to get back to your old life before Lord Byron, but being a Revenant has forced you to deal with the other Revenants that make Arkham their home. You tend to spend most of your evenings at either the Metal Church of Asmodeus or the Inferno Club. At the Metal Church you have made some friends within the Revenant and Thrall community, but no one that you would ever dare trust to watch your back in times of need.