

ROMEO; THRALL OF GEORGINA

You are a techno-geek, pretty much from the day that you learned how to play the Nintendo, you were enthralled by technology. When you went to High School your folks purchased a laptop for you and from that day forward, you have been learning how to strip down the programming codes in order to make that computer and anyone else's for that matter (through viruses) your bitch. Not long after graduating from High School, you were accepted into MIT where you went on to earn a Masters Degree in Information Technologies. All throughout that time, you paid for college by selling computer viruses to anyone that was willing to pay for them. Your rolling party ended not long after graduating from MIT, someone Narc'ed you out to the Feds about the viruses that you were selling and you were forced to work as a White Hat for the FBI's Computer Crimes Unit. It was through their data files that you learned of an FBI operation that was watching a group of supposed "vampires" that lived in the Boston metro area. Being curious, you decided to check out one of these supposed vampire clubs that were under surveillance. It was at a club named the Metal Church of Asmodeus that you met Georgina. She was a beautiful and powerful woman. Somehow she was able to get you to tell her your life's story....your still not sure how she managed to do that. But in the end, she learned about the FBI's investigation of the dance club; she made you a deal that was too good to refuse. In return for hacking the FBI's database and rescinding the surveillance order, Georgina offered to turn you into a vampire. You did the hack and then made sure to delete any files that said you were even still among the living. Just as Georgina promised, she did make you a vampire...a Thrall. She has promised that if you are a good boy and do whatever she asks for them next 15 to 20 years, she will bring you across, but until then you will remain her Thrall. Due to her connections, you were able to meet some other Thralls and Revenants that live in the Arkham area...some are friends...but most are goth wannabes that have no clue what it means to be "Elite".
